

Post Irene update:

First and foremost, we have full accountability of all personnel. We are assessing the damage to the camp, which overall was very minimal. We are also checking to see what damage our families may have sustained, either in base housing or in town. With the relatively good condition of our training areas and the ability of the base to support training, we are moving ahead to get our students back on track with the schedule. Everyone did an outstanding job including the Marines, base emergency personnel and the SODEXO chow hall personnel to keep us on track throughout the weekend.
